

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This binder was a team effort. I wish to thank the following for their valuable help, particularly with the Concept Paper, the Job Description/Prescription for an executive director, and the letters of project support. As in all such acknowledgements, the chief author here assumes all responsibility for errors of fact, interpretation, and/or discernment.

Jane Addams, founder, Hull House, Chicago, 1889, 1931 Nobel Peace Prize

J. M. Ascienzo, National Peace Corps Association advocacy staff

Emily Burns, deputy chief of staff, Congressman John Garamendi

Glenn Blumhorst, president, National Peace Corps Association

John Coyne, RPCV and founder of Peace Corps Worldwide.org

Ginna Fleming, former DC government official and Peace Corps staffer

Dennis Grubb, NPCA board of directors

Debby Hanrahan, RPCV, political activist and Washington resident

John Hanrahan, former Washington Post reporter and local activist

Chuck McConnell, NPCA board of directors

Rick Nitti, executive director, Neighborhood House, Portland, Oregon, 1905

Chris Robinson, president, RPCVs of Washington, DC

Irma Rodriguez, executive director, International Federation of Settlement Houses and Neighborhood Centers

Gerald Schwinn, RPCV, Washington resident and political activist

Craig Schwinck, RPCV and founder of the Press Café, Republic of Georgia

Michael Zisser, president board of directors, International Federation of Settlement Houses and Neighborhood Centers, and CEO of New York City's University Settlement, the largest group of Houses in the world with a total staff of nearly 900 and a combined budget of more that $50 million, 1886.